

Additionally I've attached two pictures from Jacksonville. These are important to the discussion for the following reasons.

- The two different stucco samples appear to look very similar in color under inside lighting. In the daylight, there is considerably more contrast visible. This shows the contrast for both direct and indirect sunlight scenarios.
- It also shows the Nichiha, storefront and awnings.
- This is a good example of materials...we won't be using the metal siding, and we're adding the stone, otherwise this shows our finishes.
